Second-hand opportunism in car sales: they put license plates and sell at high price

June 16 2020

Opportunists who collect new vehicles from demanding dealers and put license plates sells them at a higher price as 'second hand new car'. Experts said that since zero vehicles, which are difficult to supply under the influence of coronavirus, are hard to find in the market, customers lean to the sellers of second-hand zero vehicles. In the first 4 months of 2020, 9 percent of sales were made from the used car dealers.

"CUSTOMER DOES NOT WANT TO WAIT FOR A NEW CAR"

Automobile factories interrupted production during the coronavirus process. Therefore, there were problems in new car supply. The demand for new car increased as the loan interest rates decreased. Stating that in 2020, automobile manufacturers have experienced transportation problems in shipping, especially under the influence of coronavirus, Automotive Engineer Lect. Mahmut Nedim Tansu (MSc) from Istanbul Gelisim University said: "Production troubles prevent new car arrival to Turkey. Therefore, vehicles bought by used car sellers before or beginning of 2020 have been launched. When those who want to buy new car go to the distributors, a forward date is given for the sale. The customer leans to the used car sellers because s/he does not want to wait and the seller do the selling. Normally, prices should be lower in the used car market than new ones. When the customer cannot find a new car at the distributor, s/he turns to the dealers, they sell the cars more than the sales figure at the distributor. They say to the customer that they cannot supply the car and that prices will increase further. The customer buys the car eventually because there is no car at the distributor."

Many people are afraid of being excluded because of Covid-19

June 17 2020

Stating that one of the psychological effects of Covid-19 outbreak is stigmatization, Psychiatrist Dr. Onur Okan Demirci said that the most important emotions that disturb the logical thinking of man are fear and anxiety. Dr. Demirci said: "Although many people are diagnosed with Covid-19 today, they tend to hide it. Because if this situation is known, they fear that they will be excluded, people will stay away from them, they will be judged and criticized."

"WE ARE AFRAID, WE EXCLUDE, JUDGE AND SOMETIMES WE ARE ANGRY" Psychiatrist Dr. Onur Okan Demirci from Istanbul Gelisim University, who stated that the stigma occurred against people who were diagnosed with Covid-19 during the epidemic process, said: "We are perceived that people who receive this diagnosis pose a constant threat to us. Because of this perception, we are afraid, we exclude and judge them, sometimes we are angry, we can even behave in a way that can be violent. The two most important emotions that disrupt one's logical thinking are fear and anxiety. If we cannot manage these emotions well and get caught up in the stigma of stigmatization, we will start losing our human emotions, conscience and morals as a society."

Breathing exercise recommendation to reduce stress before LGS

June 18 2020

Recommending breathing exercise to students in order to reduce stress before the central high school transition system (LGS), Asst. Prof. Dr. Haluk Saçaklı said: "Arrive early to the exam place and walk for 5 minutes in a slow pace in a calm environment." Saçaklı informed about abdominal breathing exercise that students can do.

"DO IT SLOWLY 10 TIMES"

Stating that most people's breath is stuck between the rib cage and the trachea, Asst. Prof. Dr. Haluk Saçaklı from Istanbul Gelisim University said: "However, this is not a correct way to breath. You need to extend the path of the breath. First of all, the first place the breath fill is the abdominal cavity. Expand your belly with air through a deep breath that you take from the nose. By delivering the air you take into the chest, and then to the trachea through the diaphragm muscle. Feel the air in the trachea, get its flavor, after holding it for 2 seconds, if the nasal passages are open, start exhaling slowly again through the nose. First the shoulders come down, then the rib cage is pulled in; at the end, pulling your stomach in and out, exhale the air completely. Come early to the exam place, walk 5 minutes at a slow pace in a calm environment. Then, do this breathing exercise while sitting and do it slowly 10 times."
