Students' success in business life is related to the studying the programs they want*FEBRUARY 11, 2020

With a double major or minor, students can study in the departments they want. In addition, students who have made lateral and upper-grade transfers in recent years can continue to study without interrupting the scholarship when they pass to the department they want. Abdulkadir Gayretli, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Istanbul Gelisim University (IGU), stated that students' success in business life is directly related to studying the program they want.

Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Istanbul Gelisim University (IGU) Abdulkadir Gayretli stated that thanks to this implementation students can study the program they want and added: "The dream of families and students of studying the program they want comes true with the efforts of the President of Higher Education Council Professor Dr. Yekta Saraç as a result of the lateral transitions are published in a different function. For this reason, each student had the chance to study the program s/he dreamed of, easily. It is necessary to evaluate this chance if the university students have a base score for the departments they want or if they have a general academic grade point average, since it is the time to apply for lateral transfers. Nowadays and in the future, it will be possible for people to have the opportunity to study the programs of their own desire and to establish their own business at the time of graduation, to take up a comfortable job. The chance of students to be successful in the future is also important for them to work according to their own choices."
