NEWS

THE PROFESSION SHOULD NOT BE CHOSEN
JUST FOR INCOME

SEPTEMBER 1 2021

Making statements to the students who were entitled to enroll in the university after the YKS placement results, Asst. Prof. Derya Kavgaoğlu said, “Even though the dominant effect of economic conditions on the choice of profession is known, the profession is a set of activities not only to generate income but also to meet psychological and social needs.”

YKS placement results have been announced. Evaluating the points that young people consider when making a choice, Asst. Prof. Derya Kavgaoğlu said, “Young people take into account how much the profession can help them realize their potential in line with their interests and abilities, and how it will contribute to their gaining social prestige, as well as the economic return of the profession. The researches show that even people who do not have to work with the concern of earnings, to a large extent, prefer to be performing a profession.

A TREATMENT METHOD OF RHEUMATIC DISEASES; EXERCISE

SEPTEMBER 1 2021

Stating that one of the potential treatments for rheumatic patients is exercise, Physiotherapist Çağıl Ertürk said, "Instead of thinking that exercise increases inflammation, physical activity is now advocated as an anti-inflammatory treatment for patients with rheumatic diseases."

Emphasizing that persistent systemic inflammation, which is a typical feature of rheumatic diseases, is associated with high cardiovascular risk and predisposes to metabolic disorders and muscle loss, Physiotherapist Çağıl Ertürk said, "These disorders can create a vicious cycle of chronic inflammation by leading to decreased physical activity, exacerbation of inflammation and the development of a network of chronic diseases."

ASPERGER'S SYNDROME SYMPTOMS MAY INCREASE DURING SCHOOL-AGE

SEPTEMBER 2 2021

Child and Adolescent Psychiatrist Assoc. Prof. Canan Tanidir made statements about Asperger's syndrome (AS). Stating that the cause of the syndrome is not yet known, Tanidir said, "The characteristic symptoms usually appear around the age of 8-10. The difficulties associated with the syndrome become more apparent as children go to school since at these ages, social expectations increase."

Providing information about Asperger's Syndrome (AS), Child and Adolescent Psychiatry Specialist Assoc. Prof. Canan Tanidir, "It is one of the pervasive developmental disorders characterized by significant difficulties in social and communication, limited interests and repetitive movements. The difference from classical autism, which is the first example of pervasive developmental disorders, is that there is no significant delay in language development, cognitive development and self-care skills in the first 3 years."
