BRUSHING TEETH HARD CAUSES 'BRUSH CARIES'

SEPTEMBER 7 2021

Oral, Dental and Maxillofacial Surgery Specialist Prof. Dr. Ahmet Mihmanlı emphasized that hard tooth brushing does not clean teeth better. Mihmanlı said, "Brushing the teeth hard, instead of cleaning the teeth, causes abrasions called 'brush caries'."

Mentioning that a hard toothbrush does not clean the teeth better, Mihmanlı said, "Brushing well is not about the hardness of the brush, but about the brushing technique. Brushes that are too hard can wear down the teeth. Brushing too softly may not clean the teeth. Brushing hard doesn't clean teeth better either. Brushing the teeth hard, instead of cleaning the teeth, causes abrasions called 'brush caries'. As the enamel layer of the teeth is eroded, the yellow layer called dentin underneath is exposed and the teeth look even more yellow. In addition, hard brushing causes tooth sensitivity and gum recession. Rechargeable brushes should also be equipped with a pressure sensor and a soft brush should be used."

RIISING GOLD PRICES IN SUMMER CANNOT BE EXPLAINED BY WEDDINGS

Stating that from the past to the present, gold has been seen as a safe haven by all segments under all circumstances, Finance Specialist Assoc. Prof. Hakan Yıldırım made statements about gold prices, which rose in the summer months. Yıldırım emphasized the impact of international markets, saying that the rising gold prices in the summer are not related to weddings.

Stating that even those who do not have financial literacy highly trust in gold, Finance Specialist Assoc. Prof. Hakan Yıldırım said "It is said that the number of weddings would increase in India and Turkey, so the demand for gold would increase. Were there any justifications? Yeah. As the demand increases, so does the price. However, economics can not support the idea that the gold prices increase only due to this condition."
