About Report

The purpose of hereby this report is to share a summary of life long learning opportunities provided for local communities including academic and administrative staff and students. Our education activities are set out to lay emphasis on education with the aim of establishing a peaceful and egalitarian society. Poviding education for children, youngs and adults to have them gained knowledge and skill for being responsible citizens by golding the mission of education for all is of great importance.

This report includes a qualitative history along with a quantitative one. Figures of Istanbul Gelisim University are shared to be scrutinized and the details regarding the educational activities designed for young and adult education by the respected members of the university are also presented.

Acknowledgement

The content of Quality Education Report has been prepared considerably by internal stakeholders as in Education Support Unit, Department of Public Relations, Directorate of Health, Culture and Sports, Continuing Education Centre, Student Career Centre, student clubs and respected academic staff.

We owe a debt of gratitude to all internal stakeholders who have contributed to the content of the report.

Coordinator's Message

The Quality Education is one of the most important goals holding the vision of realizing the goals regarding sustainable development across nations and the world as it is a tool of prime importance for sustainable development policy and is critical for realizing other sustainable development goals, among 17 Sustainable Development Goal which is a part of 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda. Universities are the leading organizations of the ones partaking in the process in the achievement of this goal.

Universities are beyond being organizations providing solely professional and technical education but are primary active participants of sustainable development shaping the values and beliefs while conceiving the roles of future generations as individuals in society. The sole responsibility of universities today is beyond providing students with qualified education and training competent graduates. Universities bear responsibility of turning both universities and all segments of society, having broad shoulders to fight against inequalities as well as necessitating to be supported, into active individuals who are conscious of taking steps towards reaching sustainable development goals, holding the power of changing the society and are ready to take responsibilities. An educated society is a foremost power as it represents being innovative, entrepreneur, open to technological developments, promoting productive work power against poverty and inequality. Education also forms a basis for ensuring gender equality, supporting healthy life awareness, preventing violence, establishing a society of tolerance, peace, consistency and prosperity.

Under the guidance of course of actions offered in the direction of the Presidency 2030 goals with the aim of realizing qualified education goals of Sustainable Development Goals, Istanbul Gelisim University designs national, international, local and regional community oriented lifelong learning programs with the involvement of respected academicians and students and bring them into action. Istanbul Gelisim University is conscious of its responsibility for establishing sustainable future and devoted its works to contribute to humanity.

Lifelong Learning Opportunities

2030 sustainable development goals necessitate education-based solutions for making contributions to the society. Promoting lifelong learning opportunities for all is the key element for change through sustainable development vision.

IGU offers various free and paid trainings for society with the aim of contributing to sustainable development opportunities along with the active participation of students and personnel.

A. Public Courses and Activities

IGU offers various free trainings and activities for members of the society not being a part of university. Moreover, Istanbul Gelişim University presents courses to society both on campus and on an online platform to reach more people. Free educational content on a wide range of topics offered online can be accessed from the link below. IGU hosted 55 free events and lessons open to the public in 2019. Detailed information about these events are listed below.

1. Esenyurt Sinav Highschool Orientation " 19 Activity

<https://ubyo.gelisim.edu.tr/haber/lojistik-ve-ticaret-kulubu-esenyurt-sinav-temel-lisesi-ogrencileri-ile-bulustu>

Teachers and students of Esenyurt Sinav Highschool were welcomed in Istanbul Gelisim University in 12.02.2019 as a guest of Logistics and Trade Student Club.

The Logistics Department Head Asst. Prof. Dr. Hilal Kilic and International Trade Department Head Assoc. Prof. Dr. Ebru Nergiz started the activity by introducing the department to the group and continued with speech by Logistics Department Asst. Prof. Mustafa Ozan and Asst. Prof. Dr. Sulhi Eski on the department. Guests roamed around the Rectorship and Gelisim Tower buildings and the activity ended with interactive information exchange between Logistics and Trade Student Club Head Seyma Topluoglu and her team and students.

2. Neurophysiology of Love

<https://gelisim.edu.tr/haber/dr-ogr-uyesi-demirci-askin-norobiyojisinini-acikladi>

Academicians, students and invited local people attended the activity to learn about the scientific bases of falling in love, a psychological situation.

Asst. Prof. Demirci explained the neurobiology of falling in love. Enlarging upon the neurobiology of falling love, Asst. Prof. Onur Okan Demirci stated that the emotions felt during falling in love are related with “sympathetic nervous system”.

Istanbul Gelisim University Psychology Department Asst. Prof. Onur Okan Demirci also stated that those feelings described as “my heart is beating fast when I see her/him, I was out of breath, my hands sweated, I got a tingling sensation in my brain, I had butterflies in my stomach, I tingled with excitement” are related with the activated sympathetic nervous system.

Asst. Prof. Onur Okan Demirci shared that there are two types of mechanisms in the nervous system which operate out of control and these are “Sympathetic and parasympathetic nervous systems. Parasympathetic system activates during resting and eating food and is related with peace and serenity while sympathetic system activates in danger and excitement situations causing us to be nervous and activating in all situations we are nervous in.”

Seeing the person we are in love with activates our sympathetic system, as stated by Asst. Prof. Onur Okan Demirci who also says: “When sympathetic system gets activated our heart beats faster. The blood stream in brain pathways slows down and we feel a tingling sensation in our brain. As the blood stream in the pathways of digestive system slows down tingling sensation in the brain is felt. The lung volume becomes smaller and the hyperventilation starts causing us to get out of breath. The blood stream substantially inches forward arm and leg muscles which makes us feel tingled. These are the feelings we experience when we fall in love.

Asst. Prof. Onur Okan Demirci also states that despite all these facts, the sympathetic system cannot be the sole reason of falling in love and said: “The scientific results of studies in recent years revealed that sense of smell, also called as pheromone effect in animals, effects people as well. Human beings can feel the smell of one another in a subconscious level. This smell is matched with our system and we decide whether or not that person is attractive for us. The situation which people define as sexual compatibility is the pheromone system in science. Experiments conducted with humans revealed that when people are asked to smell the clothes of the person they are in love with (they are not told who they belong to), the love symptoms were observed.”

3. Boring Facts Against Superstitions

Kitchenware and Margarin Industrialists Association (Mutfak Urunleri ve Margarin Sanayicileri Dernegi-MUMSAD) Chairman Metin Yurdagul and General Coordinator Ebru Akdag, Istanbul Gelisim University Gastronomy and Culinary Arts Departments collaboratively held an activity titled as “Boring Facts Against Superstitions”. There was an active participation of local people with great interest for the seminar. The specialists discussed on Turkey’s food sector in seminar and focused audits and information pollution.

Akdag stated that unscientific non-specialists cause information pollution on foods and said that: "Audits on foods in Turkey are made much more than other EU countries. The Ministry increased the number of audits in years. We are one of the leading countries in the food sector in light of scientific information and in many aspects more healthy and reliable foods are produced”.

Ebru Akdag stated that the food specialists are Food Engineers and Dieticians, who must give exact information and complete each other. She also emphasized the fact that cook and gastronomy specialists also have important roles, are in the same boot and we all need to refer to science against misinformation.

"PACKAGED FOOD IS SAFE"

Akdag stated that the information related with food sector are highly wrong and dangerous and said that: "Packaged food is safe. We need to use audited and packaged food on which production, packaging and expire date is written. It is not known what processes a non-packaged food is passing through before we have them in our meal. As a consumer and Food Engineer, I never buy a non-packaged food and prefer packaged ones which I am acknowledged with its production process. Apart from that, not all packaged foods are reliable and we need to be careful about the ones which are produced under counter and managed to get free of audits. It is necessary to choose the most reliable brands".

Metin Yurdagul stated that studies on decreasing the trans oils in margarins started as of 2000s and Turkey solved the trans oil problem in the production of margarins long before Europe and the USA and entered a trans oil free period starting from 2007. Yurdagul also focused on the facts that margarins are used with cholesterol and there isn't any cholesterol in margarins produced over vegetable oil. As science is a continuously changing and developing field, MUMSAD always follows scientific developments and express their opinions believing that the most important solution for preventing existing misinformation is to share scientific data.

Metin Yurdagul also expressed his ideas on teabags and said: "There is a misperception that tea sold in herbalists are more healthy, teabags are found unhealthy as the bags might cause cancer, however teabags are natural materials produced with fibres of banana trees".

4. "Did you notice?" Public Relations Workshop

<https://gelisim.edu.tr/haber/halkla-iliskiler-okuyan-ogrencilerden-farkindalik-projesi>

<https://www.haberler.com/halkla-iliskiler-okuyan-ogrencilerden-farkindalik-11834267-haberi/>

University students taking Public Relations education in Istanbul organized a workshop titled as "Did you Notice?" for understanding the profession much better and comparing it with other fields.

The data collected with a questionnaire filled by 100 students in the project research process were shared with the participants of the workshop.

Research was conducted by Istanbul Gelisim University, School of Applied Sciences, Public Relations and Publicity Department Head Asst. Prof. Emel Tozlu Oztay, Istanbul Gelisim University Vocational School, Marketing and Advertisement Department Head Instructor

Fulya Betes and Instructor Atilla Akalin and their students Tolgahan Polat, Bahar Yalcin, Sumeyra Aydin , Ozgur Demirci, Sultan Kaya, Betul Sirma, Ilknur Sen, Selin Aldemir, Sadik Kalender, Tugce Seran, Huseyin Karaca, Dogukan Sahin and Fatih Muhammet Albayrak.

Results of the study revealed that only 1% of the participants are acknowledged about public relations, 17% of them participated a public relations workshop before and 10% of them stated that they do not find the number of workshops conducted in the field of public relations in Turkey enough.

In the first step of the workshop planned on the basis of the questionnaire data, an interview on profession was carried out, in which Gulnur Goksel a partner of Brothers&Sisters Agency and the Creative Consultant of Istanbul Cerrahi Hospital, and Dilek Aydogdu, Communications Manager of Netmarble Turkiye PR & Corporate were hosted. The guests, who are active in the sector, explained the differences of the profession in the fields of internal units and agencies through studies applied in the real-life by talking students about the public relations, advertising and promotion campaigns they perform in their companies.

In the second step of the workshop, an activity was carried out with the students enrolled in Public Relations and Organization Services Branch of Yenibosna Anatolian High School. The students of Public Relations and Social Responsibility Club of Istanbul Gelisim University performed an activity, in which they mentioned about their profession and being a university student in the department of public relations, under the guidance of their consultant, Teaching Assistant Fulya Betes, for the high school students receiving public relations education.

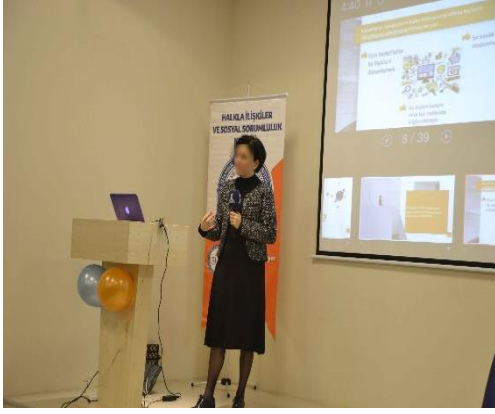

Gulnur Goksel and Dilek Aydogdu, who participated as guests of the workshop, expressed that they were pleased to share their experiences with students as the guests of Istanbul Gelisim University and congratulated the students for carrying out well-planned application projects even though they were still students.

Salim Celiktas, the principal of Yenibosna Anatolian High School, where the activity step of the workshop was conducted, expressed that they would always be glad to host new education projects to be carried out between Istanbul Gelisim University and high schools in the future by stating his sincere thanks due to the information provided to the students.

17. Logistics Talks I

<https://iisbf.gelisim.edu.tr/bolum/logistics-management-298/haber/lojistik-sohbetleri-i-konferansi-gerceklesti>

We held the conference titled “Logistics Talks I” with the participation of Dr. Hakan Cınar, our esteemed instructor. In the conference organised by the cooperation of Logistics Management department and Gelisim Leaders Club, Dr. Cınar talked about many significant issues, such as the emergence of the concept of logistics, the importance of logistics, the relationship between foreign trade and logistics, the future of logistics and many other issues.

While talking about all these issues, he aroused the interest of professionals working in the field of logistics, graduates planning to work in the field, and students still studying by providing interactive participation of them.

Dr. Hakan CINAR, CEO of Unsped Gumruk Musavirligi ve Lojistik Hizmetler A.S. is also a professional speaker and television broadcaster who talks about foreign trade, economics and logistics issues every week in the "Economics Notes" program at NTV. In addition, he mentioned about his professional experience in business life to the participants listened to the conference carefully. Dr. Cınar started to talk about his experiences with the import department where he began to work after completing his 1st year in the university and added that to what extent his customs visits made for business were enjoyable. Expressing his experiences as the general director of Ekol Lojistik, Dr. Cınar mentioned about the characteristics that he paid attention when employing young people if he had the opportunity to participate in interviews of the company where he was currently serving as CEO and advised the students wishing to work in this field:

"The first step to success is to integrate foreign trade and logistics and even politics into our lives. Because foreign trade is affected by politics while logistics is influenced by foreign trade. Logistics does not exist when there is no trading. You should follow the news, articles, sector-renowned figures regarding these three areas at every moment of your life. Start today and you should have certain sites by which you follow news and developments in the industry regularly."

Dr. Hakan Cinar, who was also serving as a columnist in the newspaper of Dunya, added the followings:

"You need to know every development about trade and logistics. You do not have a chance to say that I am a logistician, thus, I do not know foreign trade. You need to know the import-export figures in all sectors. Because you will serve as a logistics service provider in a company. For instance, if you are working in the automotive industry, you should have knowledge about the foreign trade figures of this sector. In the interviews that I participate in, I do not attach importance to the university graduated but whether that student has integrated his/her job into his/her life. You receive education at a good university, but you only learn theoretical knowledge that you need to know. There are things you need to add on the theoretical knowledge".

Serving constantly as an academic member for 26 years, Dr. Hakan CINAR added the followings: "A logistician must be very good at geography, mathematics, technology and foreign language." These four issues are essential for a logistician". Dr. CINAR warned all students to develop these aspects until they graduate.

There was a great interest in the conference along with many questions asked by the participants. The conference ended with the applause of the participants who asked questions about digital transformation, industry 4.0, e-commerce, Turkquality, Drone and cargo transportation.

Stating that women names are given to streets, passages and shops in the important centers of the city, he said, “These names are the product of a certain experience, although you have not noticed before. Since these people hold an important place in the memory of these places, their names still live in the places.”

The second part of the event focused on Sevim Burak's works. Stating that a city should have women's narratives, Kunt emphasized the role of women in this issue. By examining the role of women in storytelling, he stated that the first storytellers were our mothers, in other words, women. Defining Sevim Burak as "a strong woman who explains very different thinking practices through literature", Kunt said that Sevim Burak, "the voice of the other and a questioning person", could be understood only after forty / fifty years. Stating that women are one of the most important elements that carry culture, he emphasized the importance of women in the process of carrying culture.

In the last part, Kunt focused on the convergence point of the story phenomenon and the public relations profession. He said, “Storytelling is also crucial to building brand equity. We tell stories every day on Instagram and similar media. We are trying to find our own story by telling a story.” Stressing that the story is of great importance in the process of branding, he said, “Nowadays it is as important to create a story about a brand as much as advertising. Now every product is the same, different stories.” Giving advice to the students, Kunt said that questions should always be asked without hesitation, it is necessary to be confident, to constantly improve oneself, and to support projects targeting remedy of gender inequality.

Stomach Botox and Nutrition Training

<https://gelisim.edu.tr/haber/mide-botoksunu-ele-aldilar>

Istanbul Gelisim University Health, Culture and Sports Department Biotechnology and Life Sciences Club organized a “Stomach Botox & Nutrition” training and hosted Dr. Ahmet Bekin and Dietician Tugce Ozer.

Dr. Ahmet Bekin noted that botox is actually a snake venom and that it paralyzes the muscles and just like all other medical drugs, provides healing in appropriate dosages. Stating that the feeling of satiety will last longer and allow people to lose weight faster after botox applied into the stomach, Bekin added, “Stomach botox can be applied to anyone who wants to lose weight. It will even benefit people who have had bariatric surgery before and have regained weight. “The only people unsuitable for this procedure are people with severe gastritis or ulcers in the stomach and people with a disease that prevents endoscopy.”

Dietician Tugce Ozer discussed nutrition after stomach botox and said:

“In order for stomach botox to be successful, dietary rules must be followed. As muscles that provide contraction in the stomach fail to contract after stomach botox, food can remain in the stomach for a longer period. Carbohydrates can be normally discharged in 2-3 or 4 hours, in 4 - 4.5 hours when taken with proteins. After botox application, the gastric discharge duration can increase up to 12 hours. Stomach botox slows down gastric discharge and stimulates the secretion of the hormone ghrelin. This allows the person to feel satiated for a longer period of time. ”

Emphasizing the need for a diet in accordance with the program prepared by a dietician after the botox procedure, Ozer said, "A treatment conducted by the collaboration of the doctor, dietician and psychologist will allow better results in the long term".

Istanbul Gelisim University (IGU) and Gokkusagi College organized a design contest for nature-themed clothes as part of the Mother's Day event. All students who submitted designs were the winners of the competition, the revenue of which will be donated to the Spinal Cord Paralytics Association. Children put out a fashion show in garments they prepared with their mothers and aimed to offer hope to Spinal Cord Paralytics Association with the revenue.

Former model Fatih Hurkan was the presenter and jury member of the contest. In addition to Hurkan, image consultant and manager Ali Boz, image consultant Nermin Ceri, composer and songwriter Bulent Yetis, TV presenter Ayse Guler Alaca, IGU Vocational School Fine Arts Faculty Fashion and Textile Design Department Instructor Tarık Babayigit and designer Arzu Yetis Kocatepe were included in the jury.

Arzu Yetis Kocatepe, provided consultancy to the project, and emphasized that the students have been preparing for the contest for a long time and that the children described their love for their mothers by describing nature. Noting that the contest is also a very special social responsibility project, Kocatepe said, “Some of them said 'I love the sea, I have a lot of fun with my mother in the sea', and some said 'my mother is a flower' and thus our subject emerged. Children designed with a love of nature.”

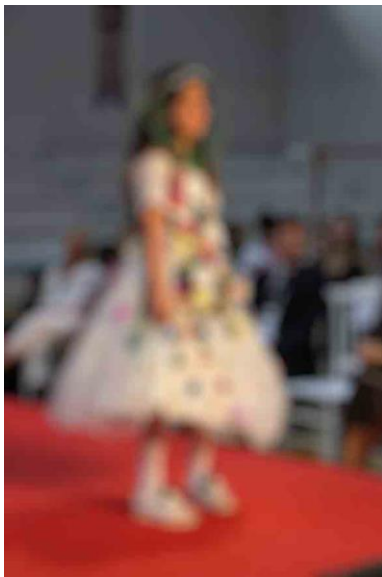

Explaining that they organized workshops for students before the competition, Kocatepe said that students created their projects with their mothers, aunts, grandmothers and neighbors.

Kocatepe thanked Istanbul Gelisim University and Gokkusagi College Bahcesehir Campus for their support and stated that the purpose of this project to raise awareness. Stating that we should guide everyone to engage in such projects, Kocatepe said, “With contributions from the school administration and the revenue collected from the tickets sold, we will purchase wheelchairs for the spinal cord paralytics association. This project will be much more beautiful with cars for the disabled cars to be hopefully purchased.”

Istanbul Gelisim University Vocational School Fine Arts Faculty Fashion and Textile Design Instructor Tarik Babayigit said that he was honored to be a part of this project. Babayigit said, “We had a hard time choosing among the students and we decided to give the first place to all the students instead of just one. We always want to be involved in these kinds of events. And we do as much as we can, I want these to continue all the time.”

Makbule Ates, Director of Gokkusagi College Bahcesehir Campus, emphasized that students designed the clothes with great excitement and said the following:

“At the workshops, the students designed their clothes with great excitement. They were also very excited that they were going to get on the catwalk for their disabled friends. Some students were so excited that they could not even get on the catwalk. We are very happy to have hosted the project.”

Image consultant and manager Ali Boz, one of the competition jury members, said, “I am very happy to be involved in this project created by the collaboration of IGU and Gokkusagi College. I think it is very important to engage people’s creativity in such projects. The revenue from the project will be donated to the Spinal Cord Paralytics Association and we are here for this valuable purpose.”

Emphasizing the importance they attach to social responsibility projects that target children, Abdulkadir Gayretli and Sule Gayretli, founders of Gokkusagi College, said, “It is very important to take part in such projects. We attach great importance to these projects. Nobody should refrain from supporting such projects.”

The students who danced with the songs performed by composer and songwriter Bulent Yetis at the end of the fashion show were awarded certificates of achievement and medals.
